

Sustainable Coldspring's Home Energy Event

The Coldspring Sustainability Committee's Home Energy Presentation was a great success. Home made tea and cookies were served to 30 plus residents from the IA, IB condos and the Woodlands. All attendees received a whistle light compliments of MECU. After a brief introduction by Libby Baker our main speaker Alice Kennedy from the Baltimore Neighborhood Energy Challenge (Baltimore Sustainability Office) was introduced. Following a few fun and informative games with prizes Alice presented no-cost and low-cost ways to save energy and money with samples and program opportunities for our homes and community. A small break for more tea and cookies and Frank Lee from TerraLogos Energy Group and a Coldspring resident introduced energy issues specific to our Coldspring Newtown and Woodlands homes. His company was also offering savings for Coldspring residents on a certified home energy audit. Frank also demonstrated how to read our BG&E bill and compared many homeowners' electric bills. Many residents stayed after the presentations to discuss the information and options with our two presenters.
